

CROOKED TREE ARTS CENTER

Summer Camps 2025

Character and Plot: Illustrating Stories

Instructor: Lindsay Moore, author & illustrator

How does a picture book evolve from an idea to a published work? Where do you start? In this week-long picture book making workshop, students will learn about storyboarding, character design, page composition and other effective tools used in visual storytelling to start you on your journey. Campers will build a creative community and leave with an insider's knowledge of children's publishing and a plan for moving forward with their own unique projects.

Thanks to a grant from the Michigan Arts and Culture Council for our "Stories Told" program, we are able to provide this summer camp workshop for FREE to our members, a value of $165.

 Each student will receive a sketchbook, pencils, and drawing materials to keep after the workshop.
